SEATTLE and LOS ANGELES January 15, 2010 — Clario and StructuRad® LLC announce the integration of StructuRad’s ReportNow™ speech recognition technology with Clario’s zVision unified worklist. This integrated solution provides a complete radiology solution for practice management, workflow and reporting.

zVision is a true unified worklist that integrates a multi-system environment providing superior access to patient information. zVision offers intelligent real-time dashboard and practice statistics, advanced search and filtering, results communication tracking and integrated peer review. zVision’s integration with ReportNow offers radiologists a single source to access patient data and reporting technology.

ReportNow is a powerful tool that combines structured macro reporting and speech recognition with Microsoft Word editor. The combined features of the FastMacro™, speech recognition, and digital dictation recorder make ReportNow flexible and easy to use.

“Our goal is to offer radiologists a single source to access patient information and the technologies they need to be more efficient. We’re pleased to integrate with ReportNow to provide access to this advanced reporting technology,” says Chris Wood, CEO at Clario.

“Clario provides an integrated approach to manage patient information that is crucial for a physician to work efficiently. Adding StructuRad’s ReportNow solution to zVision’s unified worklist extends this efficiency by decreasing report turnaround and improving quality. We are pleased to be able to offer this option to Clario customers," states Bill Tulloss, StructuRad Vice President, Marketing and Sales.
