

Canopy Partners Signs Agreement To Distribute Clario's Enterprise Worklist Solution

In response to growing customer demand for unified radiology worklist technology

Greensboro, N.C. (PRWEB) June 03, 2016 -- Canopy Partners, a North Carolina based healthcare technology company, has signed an agreement with Clario to distribute, implement and support its Enterprise Worklist software. The agreement broadens Canopy's product portfolio and allows the company to fulfill increasing customer demands for enterprise worklist solutions.

“The trend in radiology is moving toward a unified reading platform. Imaging providers want to work from a single worklist and workflow solution to provide a higher level of subspecialized care,” said Stephen Willis, Canopy Partners' Chief Technology Officer. “We believe the Clario Worklist is the best product on the market to facilitate the radiologist workflow layer.”

The Clario Worklist is a smart worklist that integrates seamlessly with any PACS, viewer, voice recognition system, VNA or EMR to build an enterprise workflow system for any radiology practice. This allows practices to stay efficient, even if they need to connect to several different systems, which is common for large practices. The resulting, fully integrated system completely redefines Radiology IT.

Canopy Partners is a technology and business services provider dedicated to the medical imaging space. Their role in this partnership will be to provide solution design and professional services to ensure a successful implementation of the Clario Worklist, and to provide ongoing training and support 24x7x365 for its clients. The Canopy team is focused on delivering solutions that elevate imaging's place in the healthcare value chain. The company serves more than 80 clients in 15 states across the nation.
